Ten Inches of Rain in 24 Hours: A Mark That Will Stand a While

The main trouble with the big storm wasn't the fact that you couldn't get through flood waters to your seat in Palmer Stadium until the end of the second quarter of the Giants-Eagles game, or all that water in your basement or the drowned car you had to abandon.

No, the main trouble was that all the people you knew wanted to tell THEIR storm story and wouldn't be quiet to listen to yours.

Because everybody has a storm story. The one that tops them all probably belongs to John C. Shagg, Woosamonsa Road, Pennington, who bravely set forth around noon Saturday to ford Stony Brook at the Rosedale Road bridge. (See picture, this page.)

Mr. Shagg was driving a neat little Saab. "I've seen worse than this," he observed, and edged into the flood at high tide.

Spectators watched in wonder as the prow of his car parted the waters of Stony Brook. Then, ever so gently, the current began to nudge the car, back and forth, slowly but irresistibly. The car, in fact, seemed to be floating.

About half way across, probably in the middle of the submerged bridge, Mr. Shagg's car turned parallel to the stream and came to rest, almost with a sigh, against a tree. And there it sat.

Mr. Shagg was rescued by the Princeton First Aid and Rescue Squad. Deciding immediately that the aluminum boat they'd brought along would never do in that current, the Aid men waded in, hip-boated, and strung a rope from tree to tree along the side of the road.

When they reached a point opposite Mr. Shagg, one Squad member crossed the road, thigh-deep in water, reached the car, handed Mr. Shagg a life-jacket and escorted him back along the rope to dry land. "Dry", meaning water only as high as the instep.

"I was drier in my car," announced Mr. Shagg, as he came out.

Township Police gave him a ticket. Careless driving.

In the 24-hour period between 8 a.m. Friday and 8 a.m. Saturday, the pair of storms — Doria and its predecessor — dropped 10.95 inches of rain on Princeton. That's an all-time record. Trenton's 6.1 inches between 3 a.m. Friday and 3 a.m. Saturday, broke a record set in 1903—5.3 inches.

DOWN BY THE OLD MILL STREAM: At the far left is the railing of the new Kingston bridge on Route 27 over the Millstone River. This picture was taken about 9 a.m. Saturday. By mid-day, the river waters were flowing across the new bridge and drivers were inching in a single lane through hub-cap-deep water to travel between Kingston and Princeton. The parapet of the old Kingston Bridge is just visible at the right. (Marie Bellis Photo)

The 10-Inch Rain

Princeton's 10.95 was measured at 121 Magnolia Lane in the rain gauge of Daniel Mazzarella of Science Associates. On Riverside Drive, in the rain gauge of David Ludlum of Science Associates, the measure was 10.32 inches.

Mr. Ludlum thinks Mr. Mazzarella's measure is the more accurate of the two since Mr. Mazzarella carefully emptied the gauge and recorded the contents (1.5 inches at 8 a.m. Friday, 4.65 more at 8 p.m. Friday, 4.8 more at 8 a.m. Saturday). Mr. Ludlum, who was away, found his gauge, which has a capacity of only 10 inches, full and then some when he returned.

Winds weren't bad—a 37.5 maximum m.p.h., Mr. Ludlum reports. But the weight of moisture on the leaves and the motion of the wind in the branches, brought the branches, and in some cases the trees, too, down to the ground. It began with a trough of low pressure ranging from Canada to Florida. Then Doria got into the trough somewhere in North Carolina, and in Mr. Ludlum's words, "brought the Atlantic Ocean in over the land."

The path of the storm was east of Princeton and Mr.

Ludlum reminds amateur meteorologists that the heaviest rains are always somewhat west of the actual storm path. It was the eastern section of Princeton that seemed hardest hit. The home of Mr. and Mrs. Burton Peskin, 79 Meadowbrook, was inundated by overflow from Harry's Brook, and in the opinion of Joseph Hodak, Township engineer, Mr. Peskin's house unquestionably took the brunt of the flood waters from the stream. (See photos, pages 1 and 5.)

Early Deadline Set
Because of the Labor Day holiday Monday, TODAY'S deadline for display advertising in the next issue will be 5 p.m. Friday. Classified advertising must be changed or cancelled by that time but new classified ads will be accepted until 5 p.m. Tuesday. News material should be submitted as early as possible.

Floors in the Peskin's one-story home (no basement) were covered with two to three inches of water, much of it including human excrement from the overflow of the sanitary sewer. Mud in the heating pipes is another problem in this house.

Harry the Villain. The villain in this part of town is Harry's Brook, that wayward and meandering stream, and the hot issue in this part of town right now is the controversial proposal to re-channel the stream, especially between Meadowbrook and Snowden Lane, where the Peskins and Bonettes live.

Earlier this summer, conservationists and environmentalists expressed alarm about the ecological damage that might be done if the brook were re-channeled.

Would damage have been less if the re-channeling had been done?

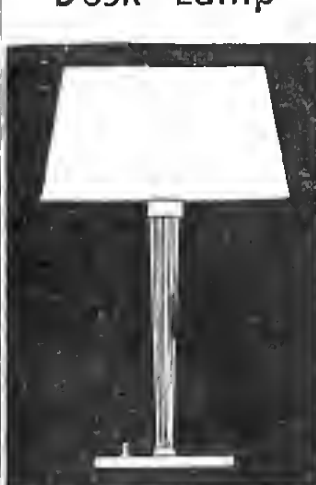

"Yes, it might have been less," says Township Engineer Joseph Hodak. "Wherever we had made stream improvements, conditions were somewhat better. The area now is certainly in one hell of a mess."

"Perhaps, when the environmental people see the results of this flood, they may look at the problem somewhat differently and I hope they will change their ideas a bit," he added.

Property owners along the brook are powerless to act on their own to clear or deepen the channel, because the Township has a permanent easement along the stream. After his house was flooded, Mr. Peskin expressed alarm about the future construction of houses in the area, with consequent loss of tree and turf and more vulnerability to floods and run-off.

What Did Storm Cost, In Dollar Terms?

As part of Governor William Cahill's declaration of New Jersey as a disaster area, municipal offices in Borough and Township provided the state with dollar estimates of the amount of damage done to public and private property by Friday's storms.

These figures, and other pieces of vital storm information, were co-ordinated for Princeton by Captain Geoffrey Sage, the Borough's Director of Civil Defense and Disaster Control.

Township: Industrial and private damage, $450,000, including extensive basement damage to Opinion Research, limited basement damage to stores in the Princeton Shopping Center, and damage to private homes throughout the Township.

Damage to public property, chiefly Township streets now in need of repair, $60,000.

Borough: Industrial and private damage $300,000, including private homes, Princeton University property and offices.

Damage to public property, $70,000, including (1.) flooding of three sewer-pumping stations, located in the Township but the financial responsibility of the Borough under the Joint Sewer Operating Agreement; (2.) heaving of streets; (3.) some flooding at Princeton High School.

Schools: William Karch, manager of facilities services for the schools, estimated $7,500 damage, chiefly from the heaving under water pressure of the Valley Road School cafeteria floor.

Meadowbrook flooding is the Terhune Road office building of Opinion Research Corporation. Princeton Township's tax offices have been in the ORC basement for some months now, and for a while on Friday afternoon and Saturday, it looked as though every tax record in the Township might be a disaster victim.

However, everything has been recovered except 7% of the assessor's property-record cards, and Assessor Stuart Robson says grimly that they will turn up, too. Everything is cross-referenced.

Re-assessment of all Township property has been set back about six weeks, and Mr. Robson estimates it will be December 15, instead of November 1, before it will be finished.

Taxpayers won't know until sometime in November — instead of October, as planned — what the estimated value of their property will be under the re-assessment, Mr. Robson said.

Saturday morning, Ronald Curini, head of Nassau Evaluation, the firm doing the re-assessment, came around to the tax office. "He knew instantly what to rescue," Mr. Robson reports, "and that helped a great deal."

Help Your Tax Collector. When the wet really began, Friday afternoon, Township Administrator Joseph R. Nini, technically on vacation, came to help Mr. Robson and the tax staff moved files and equipment.

Suddenly water poured in through the tall basement window. "... and we led each other out of there in a hurry: it was up to our hips," Mr. Robson says. "I think the whole Sourland mountains came down on that building."

All day Saturday and Sunday the tax staff worked. Mrs. Olive Hance, tax collector, and her staff members, Mrs. Dorothy Stonaker and Mrs. Helen Parker, were there and so was Mr. Robson's wife.

"All our equipment is a total loss," Mr. Robson says. "I estimate a $75-100.00 loss in book-keeping and office machinery, filing cabinets and furniture, our tax-reference library and the replacement of all our records." This estimate is in addition to the $60,000 municipal-damage figure given to the state (see box).

How much will be covered by insurance?

Mr. Robson doesn't know. "Valuable papers" is a category covered by municipal insurance, but machinery and equipment doesn't seem to be.

Borough Wet, Too. In the Borough, Mayor Robert W. Cawley said he didn't know either, how the insurance policies might pay off, nor does he know the effect on Princeton of Governor Cahill's declaration of disaster.

Geography treated the Borough with greater kindness than the Township. Cellars were flooded (Administrator Robert F. Mooney scooped out four inches from the cellar game-room he just built), and lots of tree limbs and wires went down.

A big tree on Linden crashed and a heaving sidewall uprooted another large tree at the Nassau Street end of Bayard Lane.

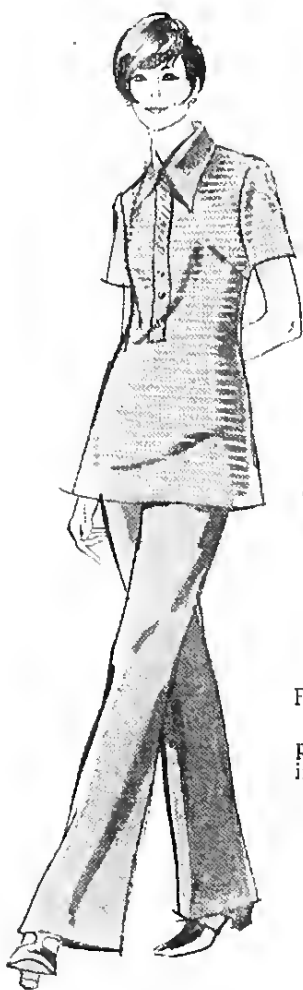

Nobody lost a life or a limb in Princeton. Two boys on a raft in Stony Brook (Keith Rittmaster, 14, 114 Galbreath Drive, and James Peace, 14, his out-of-town visitor) were rescued by police and the First Aid and Rescue Squad when their raft flipped. They

For OK Bar Dispute. The continuing battle over the re-opening of the OK Bar, 16-16 Lytle Street, is moving from Princeton to the Trenton courts.

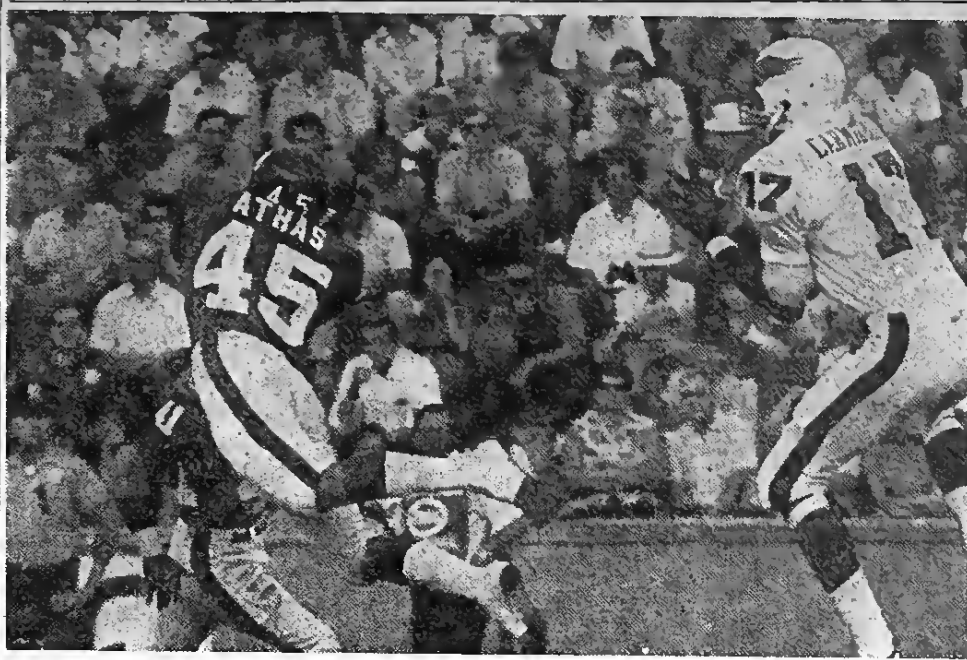

Mrs. Theresa Nini, owner of the bar, has filed an appeal with the Superior Court of New Jersey in Trenton. Bernard Glover, secretary to the Borough Zoning Board, which two weeks ago reversed an earlier decision and denied the zoning relief sought by Mrs. Nini, acknowledged that he has been served a summons.

Mr. Glover reported he has also been served a summons from Mrs. Kathleen Edwards of the John Witherspoon Civic Association. In her lawsuit, Mrs. Edwards, president of the association, is challenging the previous decision of the board which had granted Mrs. Nini permission to reopen the bar that has been closed since 1965.

Mr. Glover said that he turned both summonses over to the board's attorney, William H. vonOehsen Jr. The board has 20 days in which to reply.

Gordon C. Strauss, attorney for Mrs. Nini, said that her appeal is based on four points.

One, the rule cited by the board which it said allows it to rehear the case is invalid. Two, the zoning ordinance concerning the cessation of a non-conforming use and which provides that any non-conforming use that has been abandoned for a year must revert to a conforming use is invalid. It is our contention that state law provides that a local zoning board of adjustment can't limit it to one year, commented Mr. Strauss.

A RARE GOOD MOMENT FOR THE GIANTS: Good plays by the Giants were few and far between Saturday in their 26-14 loss to the Eagles. Pete Athas provided one of them when he intercepted this pass intended for Harold Carmichael in the end zone in the third period. For report on the game see page 42.

Three, Mrs. Nini's is challenging the board's finding that there was abandonment of her business, and, four, she is also challenging the board's decision not to grant her a variance.

Failing to get a favorable interpretation from the board over whether she had indeed abandoned her business which has been closed for six years because of her ill health, Mrs. Nini had requested a variance that would have allowed her to sell her building and liquor license.

Residents in the area are vigorously opposed to the reopening of the bar.

DRUG STORE ROBBED

By Armed Gunman. Marsh's Drug Store, 30 Nassau, was robbed of $386.19 in cash and an undetermined amount of drugs Friday evening by an armed gunman.

According to Chief Peter J. McCrohan, police are unable to estimate the amount of narcotics that was taken. "There were two bags full and they were fairly large bags," Chief McCrohan added. Morphine and Demoral were included in the missing drugs.

Also taken were checks totaling more than $800 but these were recovered Saturday on the outskirts of Princeton where they had apparently been thrown from a car. "We think we got them all," said

Chief McCrohan.

According to police, the gunman approached Miss Cathy Hendershott, a clerk, around 6 p.m. and ordered her to the rear of the store where Alexander Tompa was preparing prescriptions.

He told them he wanted drugs and money, keeping a black, small caliber revolver aimed at both as he spoke. He ordered Mr. Tompa to open the safe which was not locked. He dumped the narcotics from the two bags and also took two boxes of syringes, police said. He took the cash and checks from a cash register.

He then ushered the two victims into a rear office and told them to remain there for three or four minutes. They waited held onto a tree until rescue came. Incidentally, Township Police records show that John Shagg, also rescued by the First Aid Squad, didn't receive a ticket for careless driving.

An unidentified young woman, trapped in her car in the Great Road-Mountain Avenue-Winfield section, was rescued by a Borough truck.

Red Light. Streets and highways were like navigable rivers. Except that some of them couldn't even be navigated.

Route 206, near the Rug Mart, was flooded for both north and south lanes (a "first," according to Township police); the brook behind Red Hill Road floated logs out in to the passing stream of Route 206.

Cars were abandoned or drivers edged slowly home with drowned brakes in the downpour of Friday afternoon, not realizing the extent or intensity of the storm.

But Saturday's Giants-Eagles football game traffic really made highway travel memorable.

Ahead of time, never dreaming of the flood ahead, Township police signed up with a traffic plane, a Cessna rented by the Jaycees, who sponsored the game.

"We'd have been lost without that plane," stated Township Police Chief Fred Porter.

Pilot David Cromwell, patrolman on the Township force and spotter Patrolman John Hammond spent seven and one-half hours in the air at 1,200 feet altitude (11:30 to 3:30, 4:30 to 7:30), descending only to refuel.

Communications were handled by Township Lieutenant Richard Steiner from the Palmer Square Stadium pressbox, where he had direct lines to the plane and to all police departments.

Trapped? "We were mostly worried about Washington Road around 4 Saturday afternoon," said Ptl. Cromwell. "The water was in very close, and if that road had washed out, we'd have been in serious trouble."

He was referring to Washington between Princeton and Route One. On the far side of Route One toward Hightstown, Washington was under water in the area near the American Legion building.

Route One itself was closed at 3 p.m. at Bakers' Basin. Before the game, one line of traffic could go south; northbound, near the Dow Jones building, the highway was closed altogether; after the game, the lanes were opened. Route 206 north of Princeton was closed because it was under water at Hillsboro.

Route 27 had traffic into Princeton backed up all the way to Kendall Park. From noon Saturday highway department men guided a single line of traffic over the new Kingston Bridge through muddy water hub-cap high. It was slow but sure, and many fans who took this route made it to Palmer Stadium — well, at least before the fourth quarter.

Rosedale Road was closed at 11 a.m. Saturday, but waters receded so that it could open by about 4:30 p.m.

Quaker and Mercer Roads were closed. Quaker Bridge Road is almost always under water even in moderate rains.

Mercer was open by 4 p.m. Saturday.

"It looked like a great converging on some holy city," smiled Chief Porter, in recollection, "people wading through water, women holding their skirts up out of the mud."

Which was Worst? Was it the worst even?

"I think the November, 1950 'Dartmouth hurricane' was worse," said Borough Police Chief Peter J. McCrohan. He was referring to the hurricane that struck during the Princeton-Dartmouth football game. "We had wind, rain and hurricane then; this was mainly flooding."

"I think it worse than 1955," said Chief Porter. He was referring to the Delaware River flood that came in the wake of Hurricane Diane. "In 1955, you could still see the top of the old Kingston Bridge. This time, the old bridge was completely covered."

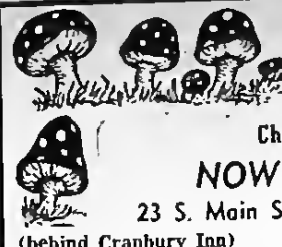

Tax Office Closed

Because of extensive flood damage, the Township Tax Office in the Opinion Research building will be closed until next Tuesday, September 8.

The office will then re-open on the first floor of the ORC building. It has been in the basement.

Summer office hours will be ended by next Tuesday, and the office, along with other municipal offices, will be open from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

"And," says Mr. Ludlum the weatherman, shaking the last drops out of his rain gauge, "the September hurricane season is coming up. Doria came from the Bahamas, you know, and there's an unnamed storm in the Bahamas right now. . . ."

Important information for those who are thinking about buying imported furniture.

The 10% surcharge tax imposed recently by President Nixon does not represent 10% of the retail price; it does represent 10% of the importer's initial cost — which is negligible to the consumer.

In addition, the 10% surcharge tax applies only to merchandise ordered from foreign countries as of now. Since we maintain large warehouse facilities, we have a large selection on hand from which you can choose without paying any surcharge tax.

as they were told and then called the police at 6:07.

They described the gunman as white, about 5-6, slightly built with long sandy-colored hair. He was wearing a gold shirt with blue or brown denim trousers. He fled on foot.

Both victims told police that he appeared nervous and acted as though he were under the influence of some kind of drug.

"PCH" TO PLANNERS

Meeting is Wednesday. Middle-and-low-income housing plans of Princeton Community Housing, Inc., will be before the Princeton Regional Planning Board in one form or another, when the board meets next Wednesday, September 8 at 8 p.m. in Borough Hall. PCH will appear with site plans and a subdivision application.

The board will also hear subdivision applications from the Thanet Corporation, which has business property on North Harrison Street in the Township, and final plans from Princeton Theological Seminary for its faculty homes on Mt. Lucas Road.

Princeton University will present off-street parking arrangements at Princeton Inn College for site review.

RENTAL INSPECTION?

New Ordinance Ready. A Township ordinance requiring registration and certificates of occupancy for all rental units—new and existing—will be introduced next Tuesday when Township Committee meets at 8 p.m. for the first meeting of September.

The ordinance, recommended in a June memo from the Township Board of Health, would take effect January 1, 1972. Fees for inspecting dwellings before issuance of the certificates of occupancy range from $5 to $15.

WATER, WATER EVERYWHERE . . . and not a drop to drink, complained the Ancient Mariner. More than 10 inches of the drinkable kind drenched the Princeton area Friday and Saturday, turning placid streams into rampaging rivers, flooding cellars and creating havoc with roads. At left, the road outside Pennington collapsed when waters swept away the fill surrounding two huge metal culverts under the road. A bridge over Stony Brook a 100 feet away remained intact. In Princeton, Harry's Brook caused untold grief to Township residents. Lake-like scene above is in front of the home of Burton Peskin, 79 Meadow Brook Drive, whose low-lying home next to the brook suffered extensive water damage. (See cover story) Above, cars parked in the rear of Eldridge Pontiac-Buick, Route 206, lie half submerged when stream next door overflowed.

ZONING MOVES ALONG

Ordinance Change Proposed. Newly-designed zones for professional use are part of the next section in the Township's continuing revision of the municipality's zoning ordinance.

The Township Planning Board unanimously passed the measure last Thursday and it will now go to Township Committee. If it can be prepared in time, it may be on Committee's agenda for next Tuesday; if not, it will be presented at the September 20 meeting.

The revision makes a new Professional Office zone in the Harrison Street-Franklin area where there are already many doctors and dentists. In addition, the measure provides an alternate way of developing the five-acre plots in the Office Research zone. Under this provision, property-owners could arrange buildings in cluster fashion if they desired.

YOUTH IS ASSAULTED

And Robbed In Buxton's. A 15-year-old juvenile from Skillman was robbed and assaulted Saturday evening in Buxton's, 84 Nassau Street.

The victim told police that he was in the men's room around 9:30 when a youth approached him and asked him if he wanted to buy some dope. He replied, "No."

At this, the victim continued, the youth pushed him and held him while he reached in his pocket and took his wallet containing $8. He described his attacker as black, about 17 or 18, wearing a red shirt and tan pants. Det. Timothy Huizing is investigating.

$825 IN SLATE TAKEN

From Construction Site. Eleven pieces of slate step treads valued at $825 were stolen last week from the north side of a new building under construction on the grounds of the Institute for Advanced Study.

Edward DeMarco, foreman for the Wilkinson Tile Co. of Somerville, told police that the treads had been stacked under a porch of the new building.

P.D. David Funk investigated.

Susan B. Kitteridge, 82 Locust Lane, reported the theft of a $20 baby's car seat from the front seat of her car. It was taken, she said, between 12:45 and 1:15 while her car was parked in the Acme Store lot in the Princeton Shopping Center. The car was unlocked.

A. V. Holmuth listed the theft of a stereo set, eight tapes, radio and portable TV from her home last week at 18 Quarry Street. Police said that entry was through a rear window in the double occupancy house.

In other thefts, a stereo was stolen from under the dash of a car parked near Palmer Stadium owned by Walter Hill, 120 Prospect, and a $150 camera and tool kit valued at $100 were taken from a room at the Campus Club, 5 Prospect Avenue, Borough Sgt. John J. Bel-low investigated the club theft.

LARGE WINDOW BROKEN

On Valley Road, A 4 x 8-foot window on a corner of the home of Martin Patterson, 8 Valley Road, was broken Friday by an unidentified object.

Mrs. Patterson told police she was watching television when she heard a loud sound. Investigating, she discovered a small hole in a front living room window. Replacement cost was placed at $200.

The entire house, police said, is enclosed by a hedge and trees.

DRIVER FINED $205

For Revoked List Violation. Geoffrey Graham, 18, 54 Maclean Circle, was fined $205 Monday in Borough Court for driving while on a revoked list.

Judge Theodore T. Tams Jr., also fined him $10 for a late inspection infraction. Graham pleaded guilty to both.

Kenneth McEwen, 46, 184 Witherspoon Street, paid $15 each on two separate charges of making an improper turn. Also paying $15 fines were: Jeffrey Bullock, 21, 102½ Birch Avenue, careless driving; Jeffrey J. Coghill, 23, 301 Emmons Avenue, speeding; Charles Goldstein, 26, 308 Lawrence Apartments, following too close; Ninae G. Ellison, 56, 10 Colonial Avenue, improper maintenance of lights; and Chris Holder, 22, 90 Shady Brook Lane, red light.

TEENS MAY CONTINUE

In "Flight Two," This Fall. "A magnificent job!" is the way Borough Mayor Robert W. Cawley described this week the summer activity of Youth Concerns' "Flight Two," the un-programmed program started late in the spring by the

The weatherman appears to be trying to make up for last Friday's rain with a streak of sunny and cool days. The pleasant conditions should continue at least through Thursday night, with clouds starting to cover the skies on Friday.

Council of Community 'Services' Youth Concerns committee.

Now, what about fall?

The answer is "yes!" Barry Peterson, the full-time name at Flight Two, said this week that the group is eager to move into the fall season.

Teens who were away during the summer have been dropping in at the Flight Two rooms at 173 Nassau, across from Davidson's. About 100 have come in to see what's going on, and Mr. Peterson says that around a dozen have already become involved on a "working basis."

Five all-day meetings with 30 kids were held to talk about fall: what's needed and what are we able to do? how can we involve the whole community instead of just youth? how can we involve other schools? "This summer we succeeded because kids were bored and there wasn't anything else to do," Mr. Peterson says candidly. "but when school starts, it will be different."

Since Flight Two's "program" depends on what kids themselves want to do, it isn't possible yet to say what the autumn will bring.

Mr. Peterson feels strongly, however, that newcomers who were away during the summer, must be "allowed in," and part-time student jobs are being held open to accommodate new applicants.

Funds must be found somewhere, and Flight Two plans to ask individuals, service agencies and organizations for contributions. Besides, the kids hope to make money on their own: they earned $70 at the bake sale they held Saturday at the Giants-Eagles game, and $50 at a summer dance. They hope for $200 a month, to pay Flight Two rent and the salaries of, maybe, two full-time directors and six part-time students.

PARTY TO BE HELD

Hun Complimented.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

I write to compliment the Hun School, Dr. Chesebro and Mrs. Sutherland on their new course: "The Art of Being a Gracious Member of Society." The fact that it is only to be offered to young women is innocuous.

All of us — whatever age, men or women — should observe the niceties of living which include sheer politeness, compassion and common sense. We do, after all, live together in a town, a country and as a part of the world community.

Discussion about a course to be taught in an independent school in the "Letters to the Editor" section of the public press illustrates a total lack of propriety.

I've been indirectly associated with another private school in Princeton for over ten years. Hun is hardly considered a "second rate" school. Its excellent reputation is well deserved and we are fortunate to have the Hun School in Princeton. Their good rating is valid in every area — enviable in many.

Note to Hun Girls.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

Mrs. Sutherland would mold inexperienced, open-minded girls into poised, gracious, well-dressed automatons ever confident of their packing abilities and their hors d'oeuvres.

Hun girls: Being an admired hostess is not the only occupation open to you. Demand the opportunity to examine your vistas! When you have stopped "selling" yourself, you have become a mature human being confident of your true capabilities.

MARGERY L. SHER

Support for Hun.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

I was so glad to see Mrs. Sutherland's letter explaining her course, also the many letters in support of the course, in answer to the intemperate letters in opposition which in themselves showed how very desirable such a course is.

I might also say in support I am very close to a person who fortunately had the benefit of such a background. She found it of great value, not only to herself but to her husband who was an executive in an international business.

Because of her background, she was able to be a gracious hostess and at other times, along with her husband, guests of honor on many important occasions both in this and many foreign countries.

Her husband's business required him to deal with people in high government as well as diplomatic circles. She was never at a loss to know exactly the correct and gracious procedures and dress.

In addition to this, in many cases, their children were the recipients of invitations to be with the children of the people with whom they were involved.

It all made for not only a successful business career but also a thoroughly delightful and world wide life for the entire family. I do not believe the lady ever ironed a shirt, but she could have put her hand to any task and would have done so gladly.

Feminism's Next Militants.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

I wish to thank TOWN TOPICS for printing the Hun School's explanation of their course in graciousness for female students, and the many letters supporting this approach to the education of young women.

When I wrote to protest against this course, I simply had not realized the truth, which is now obvious, and I hereby proffer my sincerest apologies to the school and those who defend its policy in this matter.

I now see clearly, you are all secret supporters of women's liberation — I should have known. Girls forced (the course being compulsory was the clue) to learn so early the true meaning of "separate but equal" will be not only feminism's staunchest allies in a few years but its next generation of militants.

No Difference in Course.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

I was so relieved to see Mr. Chesebro's explanation of the Hun School course, "How To Be a Gracious Member of Society," and to find that I had "completely misunderstood" its purpose! It was wonderful to read that it's not a home economics course as previously announced at all.

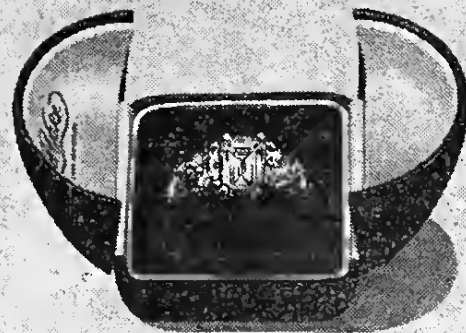

The girls won't be taught housekeeping, but how to iron a man's shirt. They won't be taught cooking, but how to make hors d'oeuvres, not childcare but how to pack a wrinkle-free suitcase, and not budgeting, but how to use a charge plate. Such a difference! And what a relief!

It was even more impressive to read that they will be trained to be leaders in our society through posture and charm. We have only to look around us to see the importance of this. It is clear that Aristotle Onassis is where he is because he walks so gracefully and David Rockefeller, as everyone knows, heads the Chase because he does such a beautiful job of ironing his shirts and making dainty anchovy tarts.

And, of course, my fears were completely allayed by the presentation of Mrs. Sutherland's credentials. La, who wouldn't want a daughter to have as a role model an ex-member of the Belgian aristocracy who has even "moved in film colony circles?" Such success stories force one to put aside all worries!

But most wonderful of all is the news that the course is really intended to teach the girls how to "sell themselves." Clearly posture is important for this, as any woman on 42nd street will attest. I have only one concern now. I read in the NY Times that a former Miss Universe gets $1500 a night. I do hope the Hun girls will be urged to aim this high and even higher!

Gracious me (you should pardon the expression) but it's all so glamorous.

Additions to Hun's Course.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

I am writing in reference to all the bantering, name-calling and one-sided views voiced in your paper over the Hun School's new course for the modern young lady.

I would like to point out that although this course includes projects which are debatable, I feel that there are some important additions to be made to this course which most people have overlooked:

1. How to change a tire, check the oil, fill the oil and fix a windshield wiper.

2. How to replace a fuse, fix a broken electrical cord, and repair a broken lamp.

3. Mend bindings on books and frame a picture.

4. Fix plumbing in a toilet, unplug a sink, bathtub and toilet.

5. Care of house plants

6. Read a gas, electricity and water meter

7. Birth Control Methods.

These things are important to any woman—whether or not she chooses to be a career woman, marry the President, go into space or stay at home and raise a family.

I think that the saddest thing about this course is the need for it. The items mentioned in the articles should be taught to children by their parents at home. Children should be exposed to checking accounts, packing suitcases properly, ironing and mending their clothes, etc.

But since the family unit is now considered by some passe' and since parents are too busy outside of the home, few children are taught these things. Perhaps the course should be called "Why I should have learned while I was growing up at home, but didn't."

"Trashy" Ad Defended.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

Enclosed is a copy of a letter to Dr. (Robert) Bierman (president of the Princeton Regional Board of Education)

AROUND THE TOWNSHIP IN ONE DAY: Some men like to hunt, some like to paint and some like to go for balloon rides. This blue and yellow balloon belongs to the Chalet Club of New York, a group of adventurers who thing such things as sky diving, skiing, hiking and yes, ballooning, are more fun than stamp collecting. from Parents of Princeton School Children.

MRS. ALFRED G. GREEN
56 Herrontown Circle

Dear Dr. Bierman:

The dollar donations behind the Parents of Princeton School Children ads did not come from outer space. They came from parents — and voters; the voters you are supposed to represent — trashy or not!

You are not Dr. McPherson's partner. And before you defend his policies again, you'd better find out why he has not denied even one FACT or answered one QUESTION. There has to be a reason behind his silence and his carefully circumspect remarks.

As to the guidance issue — we advise you to reread — or read — the proposal by Mr. Huchet.

Parents heard that the Board had been privately promised that there would be only one new position (head counsellor) and that the position of Department Chairman would be quietly tacked onto the job of head psychologist at PHS.

Parents wonder how this "private plan" will work out, since:

1. Last week Dr. McPherson "assigned" the job of Department Chairman to the "former" Guidance Director (Packet, Aug. 18, 1971).

2. Our Trash ad quoted from the proposal exactly. TWO NEW POSITIONS WILL BE CREATED.

3. Mr. Petrillo, Guidance Director, was told he could apply for either of the two positions. This means there are two jobs and both are "open."

4. No one would admit to us that they had read job descriptions for either the position of head counsellor or department chairman. Is the fact of their existence a secret too? Were job descriptions written along with the proposal? Or will they be written later — to fit the applicant? Maybe we're due to get another McPherson Cabinet Member.

Either the written proposal was a preposterous sham and didn't mean what it said or, the Board was carefully misinformed as to its real intent.

Or, perhaps the public statements made at the June Board meeting (and by various Board members to us) about BOTH jobs being open to the guidance director were out and out lies!

No wonder PREA has so much anxiety about the high handed way jobs are switched around — or is MAN-euvered really the appropriate description, after all?

Before you call Princeton Parents "trashy" again, get the FACTS and ask the QUESTIONS. It sounds like Dr. Mc-

Beware Old Timers.

To the Editor of Town Topics:
Nero happily burned Rome; so the Plainsboro-West Windsor school board decided about the Coward House. After 150 years of tender loving care given by past owners of the Coward House located on the Princeton-Hightstown Road, this home will be put to the torch and burned to the ground in one hour.

All you old timers in West Windsor Township take heed that all your memories collected these many years, will be found in the local dumps soon after you pass on to your reward. Who you were or what good you have done in and for the township will forever be forgotten — as the last snow storm. Anyone remember Frank Walton, who knew where every nail was in all three schools?, or who knew every one of his pupils by their first names?

Want to know what a milk stool looked like, an old wooden rake, a spinning wheel? Visit the Smithsonian Institute in Washington, D. C.

As the pioneers of West Windsor who built and contributed to this township are forgotten, so will the names of the school board be quickly forgotten. Their costly mistakes will not be forgotten, but any small good they accomplished will be blown into the wind.

I was told the school board did not know how to insure the house, who would take over running the house and other small questions, and it suddenly dawned upon me that they are now responsible for spending 7, no 8 plus million dollars of our money. Makes you sit up and think? I was told no interested township resident bothered to call school board members — did anyone?

I tried to save a nice old house to be used as a local museum, but I failed and I apologize to all the nice interested people in the community who stopped to talk or call me. I am not bitter with the school board, but I can't under-

Support Ocean Dumping Law.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

For some time New Jersey residents have been concerned about the issue of ocean dumping. Now we can help do something about it. Letters (or post cards or telegrams) are needed immediately to members of the House of Representatives (district 4, The Hon. Frank Thompson, Jr., House of Representatives, Washington, D.C. 20515) urging them to support H.R. 9727, the Marine Protection, Research and Sanctuaries Act of 1971 as it was reported out of committee. They should be urged to not support any weakening amendments.

A vote is scheduled for Sept. 8 or 9.

On balance, H.R. 9727 is a good bill which includes these much-needed provisions (there are at present no similar laws in existence):

1) it regulates transport and dumping of all materials including strict prohibition against transport and dumping of radiological, chemical, or biological warfare agents or high-level radioactive waste by any U.S. citizen, or any U.S. agency, in any U.S. waters;

2) it has a strong section on penalties, which does not exempt federal personnel and agencies;

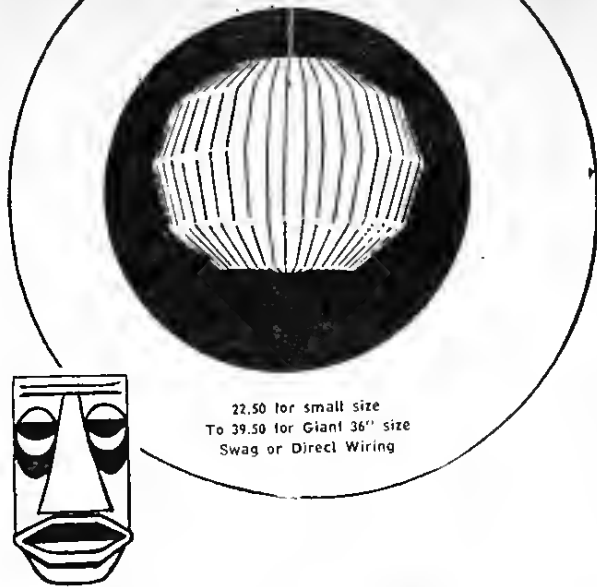

3) it directs that certain research and monitoring programs be instituted;

4) it authorizes the Sec'y of Commerce, acting through the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration (NOAA) to designate certain areas up to the edge of the continental shelf as marine sanctuaries.

When it comes up for a vote, as soon as Congress returns (Sept. 8), it is expected that the bill will be faced with a number of challenges designed to considerably reduce its effectiveness. Unless there is obvious vigorous public support for H.R. 9727, it will be in serious trouble.

ADULT SCHOOL EXPANDS

To Two Nights A Week.

The Princeton Adult School will sponsor 60 courses this fall, it's 30th year of operation, and to be able to serve the potential students to an even greater degree. Mrs. James Johnson, Chairman of the Adult School Trustees has announced that the school will operate on Tuesday as well as Thursday this year.

Recently many area residents have wished to take more than one course and the pressures of increased enrollment and a broader spectrum of classes, necessitated two nights of classes for the first time. The Trustees hope that all of those who have been disappointed in the past will be able to take all of the classes they wish this year. (A complete listing of courses may be found on pages 40-41.)

For those who wish to broaden their culinary skills, the classes are so structured that they may take the following two hour classes: Tuesday, Sept. 21st, French Cooking with Mrs. Monique Royce — a repeat of her popular course; Thursday, Sept. 23 Cooking and Eating in Chinese which ends in a banquet meal to which guests are invited with Mrs. Yung-Chi Chen, a long time favorite of adult school students. Both of these classes run the usual 8 to 10 p.m. time in the Home Economics Room 151.

The third cooking class is called Gourmet Globe Trotters and will be given at a new time on Tuesdays — 5 to 7 p.m. which will enable those who are perhaps waiting for commuting spouses, to tuck in a cooking experience and then rush down to the bus or railroad station and return home to try out some of their new found skills.

Michael Dorn, the author of "Tyrants In The Kitchen," Editor of the Betty Crocker Recipe Card Library, Editorial Director of Books 2000, and a frequent guest on TV talk shows, will conduct this class.

Mr. Dorn has been cooking since he was 3 years old when he perfected his version of The Mud Pie. He is designing this series for more advanced culinary experimentation and it will be around party themes which will take a meal from cocktails through dessert. There will be lots of "do ahead" tips which will enable the party givers to be with their guests.

The party themes will cover such diverse areas as Italy, Greece, Morocco, Germany, India, Ceylon, the Philippines, the South Pacific, Mexico and Japan. He will stress the use of easily available foods to make superior examples of favorite regional dishes.

In all cooking classes mimeograph recipes will be handed out.

All of the food classes are rigidly restricted as to size and those who wish to participate should register immediately by sending their check for $28.50 to the Princeton Adult School, Box 701, Princeton, New Jersey 08540.

Home Remodeling Class. On Tuesday nights from 8 to 9 p.m. Mrs. Elizabeth Moynahan, Princeton Architect will give a course on Guide to House Remodeling. The aim of the series will be to help the home owner remodel his or her home by providing the information needed to assess what exists, plan changes that are within the budget, and to anticipate what building processes are necessary to accomplish these changes.

Then the home owner will be able to judge whether an architect is necessary, whether the job should be done by a contractor, a single mechanic, a handyman or the owner. She will also go into contractual obligations between the owner and builder and spell out the scope and quality of the work.

In this same general area concerning the home and its problems will be a two-hour class on Tuesday nights called FixIt: Home and Auto Repair given by Frank Francisco and Jim Beachell in the high school shop room. The major subjects will be: Electrical — sources of power, service, house wiring, reading meters, repair of electrical cords, care and upkeep of motors, trouble shooting.

Plumbing will be covered under the topics: repairing leaky pipes, thawing frozen pipes, how to assemble pipe fittings, waste disposal, hot water systems; Maintenance and repairs. The automobile part of the series will deal with: the brake system — various types; electrical system; cooling system; suspension and exhaust; fuel and engine; safety.

The novels of Saul Bellow will be the topic of Professor

David Burrows, associate professor of English at Douglass College on Thursday nights from 8 to 9 p.m. It will be an examination and discussion of Bellow's works from 1944 to the present with readings from such works as Dangling Man, The Victim, The Adventures of Augie March, Seize the Day and Mr. Sammler's Planet. It is advisable for those intending to take this course to read these novels in preparation for fuller participation.

On Tuesday nights there will be a two-hour workshop given in the High School auditorium by Arthur Lithgow, Executive Director of McCarter Theatre of Princeton University called

Introduction to Oneself in the Play. The course is based on the assumptions that it can be rewarding in "theatre games" to take a look at how the participants feel and what they do in relation to certain people and to certain things.

This may allow the participants to better relate to great plays by seeking analogues in their own feelings and behavior to the expressed forms of dramatic characters.

Students are to come to the workshop in casual dress and be prepared for exercises in physical body expression. Professor Lithgow did graduate work in Theatre at Cornell University and taught for a number of years at Antioch College where he was responsible for producing all of Shakespeare's plays during five summer seasons. After serving as director of festival theatre programs in Toledo, Akron and Cleveland, he joined the Princeton staff in the fall of 1961.

Since that time he has administered the artistic and personnel details of the resident professional theatre program and also lectures on a variety of subjects in the McCarter Theatre's extension service throughout the public school system of New Jersey and he also serves as a preceptor on the English faculty of Princeton University.

The trustees wish to stress once again that prospective students should register immediately as all classes but the large lecture series are extremely limited as to enrollment some taking no more than 15 or 20 students.

NEW LAW HELPS SCHOOLS

In Land Purchases. A new state law, signed last week by Governor William Cahill, removes the $100 limit on the cost of an option for land wanted by a school district for a school building.

In its place, a school board will be able to take an option for the property's "fair market value."

The $100 limit made option procedures "totally unrealistic," observed Assemblyman William Schluter, sponsor of the bill. Property owners don't want to tie up their property for months until voters decide, in a referendum, whether the land will be bought or rejected.

Thomas Cook, attorney for the Princeton Regional Schools suggested the law to Mr. Schluter, the Assemblyman said, because two years ago, Princeton's school district ran into problems in regard to a proposed school site in the Snowden Lane area. A referendum providing for purchase of the land was voted down.

TUTORING PROGRAM ENDS

At Stuart School. The first tutoring program held at Stuart Country Day School ended last week, and was termed "highly successful" by school officials.

Some 57 young people and one adult received either remedial or enrichment tutoring in English, reading, mathematics, the sciences, French, Spanish and Latin. Fifteen teachers from Stuart, Princeton Day and the Lawrenceville School participated in the session, which ran from July 19 through August 27.

The planned ratio was students per teacher, however, students frequently received training on a one to one basis. Because of the overwhelming response of students from the Princeton, Montgomery, and Lawrence areas attending both private and public schools, Stuart will offer an even more comprehensive and larger tutoring program in the summer of 1972.

DRIVER HITS TREE

Vision Blocked by Rain. A traffic victim of the weekend's weather was William L. Streater, 30, 256 John Street. Driving on Witherspoon Street near Quarry at 4:24 Saturday morning, Mr. Streater told police that he was on his way home "but could hardly see because of the rain." His car jumped the curb and struck a large tree. The front end of his small foreign car was totaled.

Taken to Princeton Hospital by the First Aid and Rescue Squad, he was admitted for treatment of a fractured nose, abrasions and lacerations of the chest. There were no charges.

Friday afternoon, Paul Robinson, 23, of Trenton, collided with a guard rail fence on Provinceline Road. He escaped injury.

He told police he was going about 10 miles an hour when he started to slide. Ptl. David Funk, the investigating officer, reported that the roadway was slippery from the heavy rain and from oil on the road.

Township police are still investigating an accident Saturday at 1:16 p.m. at Washington and Faculty roads.

CAMPAIGN TO BEGIN

For W. Windsor Democrats. West Windsor Democrats will kick off their 1971 campaign on Monday. Sign-raising ceremonies will mark the occasion on the front lawns of the party's two candidates for Township Committee.

Small wooden evergreen trees carrying the theme "Good for West Windsor" will go up at the homes of Mrs. Ingrid W. Reed, 548 Alexander Road, and Alan H. Stutz, 7 Huntly Drive.

EARLY CLOSING DAYS (1:00 P.M.)

All Wednesdays, including the first day of school, Sept. 8 Parent Conference Days (to be scheduled by individual schools).

All early closings have been standardized at 1:00 P.M. Lunch periods will be scheduled on all school days, including Wednesday, Parent Conference Days and June 15-16.

Emergency closing days beyond the three provided for in the calendar will be scheduled as follows:

Total of four — Make up on Memorial Day.
Total of five or more — Make up beginning with June 19. (Memorial Day would not be used in this case.)

ers from her Glen Acres neighborhood will join them.

At the Stutz home in Jefferson Park, they will be greeted by other campaigners from Edinburg and the southern part of the Township.

Mrs. Reed is a housewife making her first bid for political office. Active in the Citizens Advisory Committee to the West Windsor Planning Board, she says she decided to run in order to add a stronger voice for good land use to the Township's governing committee.

She describes herself as a strong advocate of planning and strict zoning enforcement.

Stutz, who is assistant director of administrative systems and data processing at Princeton University, says that lack of long-range financial plans and future tax projections for the fast-growing Township prompted his step — also his first — into politics.

Following their Labor Day opener, West Windsor Democrats have scheduled another campaign effort for Sunday, September 19. The Club's annual picnic will be held that day from 1 to 6 p.m. at Liberty Social Club Grove on Rabbit Hill Road.

McPherson - Town Topics - Aug. 25, 1971

"What the public doesn't realize is that nobody's concerns bother me more than those of the President of the School Board."

and here's what the President of the School Board had to say:

Bierman - Town Topics - Aug. 25, 1971

"We must concentrate on a few specifics hoping that the complaints of the community and concerns of the School Board can eventually be set enough in the background for us to work on the important things."

Do we define this "working relationship" as snug - or SMUG?

The Supt. of Schools thinks nobody's concerns — not parents, not teachers, not students, not taxpayers, not even those of the other 8 Board members — are as important as those of the President of the School Board.

And the President of the School Board thinks that community complaints and the concerns of the rest of the School Board take a back seat to the "important things."

"Important things" being what the Supt. of Schools says are important!

WE HOPE YOU HAVE A SENSE OF HUMOR.

TEAGUE'S ONE UP
In Softball Playoffs. Teague & Hinds which has managed to hang tough when it counted now finds itself in the catbird seat in the championship playoffs in the Princeton Adult Softball League.

Monday, Teague's defeated Conte's Bar, 4-3, in 10 innings for its second win in a row to take a 2-1 lead in the best of five series. Conte's had won the opener.

Teague's won Monday when Conte's usually air-tight outfield defense collapsed. Joe Watts led off the bottom of the tenth with a single. The ball was bobbled. Watts then came all the way home when the hurried return throw sailed into the stands for a three-base error.

Trailing, 3-1, in the last inning of regulation play, Conte's had rallied to tie the score on Bobby Anderson's bases-loaded single, driving in Frank Cawley with the tying run.

In the second game, Teague's spotted the Barmen five runs in the first inning but came on to win, 8-6.

Conte's jumped on starter Charlie Hutton for six hits and five runs, but Hutton's reliever Louis Haggins slammed the door tight the rest of the way. After Teague's had tied the score 5-5 on hits by Ray Cranston, Fran Brooks, George McVaugh, Dan Alleyne, Cap Crossland and George Tucker, Alleyne put the game away with a three-run homer. Brooks had three hits for the victors.

Wes Cawley led the losers' attack with three hits. His brother, Frank, extended his hitting streak to six games with a pair of singles.

Conte's Takes Opener. In the opening playoff game, Conte's, which has swept past Ivy Inn two straight to reach the finals, continued its momentum with an eight-inning, 5-4 win over Teague's.

This time it was the Ice-men's turn to lead, as they scored three in the first, Cranston and Brooks providing the firepower. It lasted until the third, when with two down, Conte's raked Teague pitching for six consecutive hits and four runs.

Teague's tied it again on back-to-back doubles in the fourth by Crossland and Bucky Melvin. Teague, however, was denied a go-ahead run when Bobby Anderson turned Joe Watts' line drive into a double play.

In the eighth, Dave Lanning singled for Conte's and advanced to third on Frank Cawley's fourth straight hit. With no outs, Jack Roberts then lined a sacrifice fly to center to drive in the winning run.

Teague's had battled its way to the finals with a 10-3 victory over Varsity Sport Shop. To win the series, two games to one.

Cap Crossland let the Ice-men with three hits, including a pair of home runs. Jim Pi-rone and Bix Kroener combined for four hits for the losers.

MERGER PLANNED

By Systemedics and AMS. William Krause, President of Systemedics, Inc. and Jackie Majors, President of AMS, Inc., announced that their firms have signed an agreement to merge A.M.S. into Systemedics, and that stockholders have approved the action.

Systemedics and A.M.S. develop and operate information systems for the health care professions, providing physicians, groups, clinics and hospital out-patient departments with medical data processing and consulting services.

Systemedics has offices on State Road, Long Beach and San Francisco, Calif., and Hollywood, Fla., with computer facilities at the former two locations. A.M.S., headquartered in Jackson, Miss., provides its services through 139 franchise representatives located in most areas of the country.

Systemedics had sales of $1.6 million in 1970, and A.M.S. franchises generated revenues of approximately $1.7 million at the wholesale data processing level. The company believes that the combined operations will be in a substantially improved competitive position.

In the merger A.M.S. shareholders received Systemedics common stock and Systemedics assumed all assets and liabilities of A.M.S. A.M.S. will continue to function as a division of Systemedics and the management personnel of A.M.S. will remain as the operating group of the division.

Both Mr. Krause and Mr. Majors stated that they believe their combined companies represent the largest single computer based service for their specialized market, and they further commented that with their combined systems and program capabilities, they believe they offer the most comprehensive services as well.

BUSINESS LOANS RESUME

Funds Again Available. U.S. Senator Harrison A. Williams, Jr. (D-N.J.) has announced that he has been notified that the Small Business Administration once again has money available for direct loans to New Jersey businessmen, and is accepting applications after a three-year moratorium.

Sen. Williams said he has been notified by SBA Administrator Thomas Kleppe that $1.3 million has been allocated for direct loans in New Jersey during the current fiscal year, which began July 1.

"This is very welcome news to many small businessmen in New Jersey who urgently need loans either to start a business or to help pay operating and expansion expenses," Sen. Williams said.

"I know," he added, "that many New Jersey businessmen had sought low-interest, direct government loans during the last three years when there were very few available. I am pleased that those currently in need of them are now able to apply."

According to SBA guidelines, loans in varying amounts, up to a maximum of $100,000, may be made to "small" businesses which require them for the economic development and growth of the company.

In October, 1968 a moratorium was imposed on such loans, except in special cases. However, the moratorium was lifted in June of this year and new funds appropriated by Congress became available last month.

Sen. Williams said New Jersey businessmen interested in the direct loan program should contact the Small Business Administration field office in Newark.

McCLELLAN TO SPEAK

At Rider Commencement. Bruce McClellan, Head Master of the Lawrenceville School for the past 12 years, will be the guest speaker at Rider College's summer commencement exercises Sunday, September 12. Mr. McClellan also will receive an honorary doctor of letters degree during the ceremonies.

A member of the faculty at Lawrenceville since 1950, Mr. McClellan is credited with initiating Program 75, a 15-year program of physical and academic improvements at the school.

McClellan, 47, is a graduate of Deerfield Academy and of Williams College where he was graduated cum laude and was a member of Phi Beta Kappa. He served as an Air Force pilot in Europe during World War II and then went on to New College at Oxford University as a Rhodes Scholar, earning his master's degree there in 1949.

A native of Spring Grove, Pa., Mr. McClellan served briefly on the faculty at Deerfield and was assistant dean at Williams for two years before joining the Lawrenceville staff. He serves now on the board of direction of the Association of American Rhodes Scholars and as a member of the Williams board of trustees. McClellan and his wife have two sons and a daughter.

Some 188 graduates will receive degree from Dr. Frank N. Elliott, Rider president, during the Alumni Gym ceremonies.

STATE POLICE READY

For Labor Day Weekend. In preparation for the long Labor Day holiday period when the largest volume of summer traffic is expected on our highways, Colonel D. B. Kelly has announced that all available State Police personnel will be assigned to traffic patrol duty between 6 P.M. Friday, September 3, and Midnight, Monday, September 6.

While traffic fatalities are running a marginal 2.2 per cent below the total compared to last year, he noted that, "there is no acceptable number of highway fatalities. Every motorist should be working to reduce the statistic to zero."

In addition to station personnel, backed by detectives and other specialists, four State Police helicopters will patrol over the State's heavily traveled traffic corridors to assist ground patrols in spotting trouble areas and coordinating the free flow of traffic. Troopers will also fly as observers in the Turnpike and Parkway helicopters.

Schedules have been arranged to provide saturation coverage by task force, radar VASCAR and breathalyzer operators with special emphasis on the critical hours between 5 p.m. and 3 a.m. when most fatal accidents occur.

Marked patrol cars will be used to the fullest advantage, particularly where traffic flow is heavy. Dismounted posts will be taken at strategic locations and Troopers will make personal contact with motorists and pedestrians as required to help the public get where they are going safely.

Troopers will concentrate enforcement on the drinking driver and accident producing

Are You Golden Age?

You're entitled, if you are. Under the definition of the Princeton Regional Schools, you're a Senior Citizen if you've reached the age of 62, and this status entitles you to a Golden Age Pass to all Princeton public schools events.

Football games (indeed, all athletic contests), musicals, concerts, stage plays — the whole program of events is free of charge to any Senior Citizen who shows a Golden Age Pass to the ticket-taker.

Golden Age Passes may be obtained by stopping at any school office and filling in a short form. Or you can write asking that a form be sent through the mail.

If you've already registered, you don't have to apply again. Your pass will be sent to you.

Last year, 63 Senior Citizens took advantage of the schools' offer.

violations such as: Driving too fast for conditions; following too closely; failure to keep right; improper passing; disregard of stop signs; improper left turns; and improper crossing or walking on the roadway. Warnings will be issued for other violations which might lead to traffic hazards if not eliminated.

The alcohol factor continues to be present in more than 52 percent of all fatal accidents. This means that driver or pedestrian impairment contributes to the majority of causes, emphasizing the need to be mentally and physically alert.

Colonel Kelly urgently requests "full support of the news media in reminding our travelling public of the wisdom of safe and sane driving and walking during this holiday weekend. Drivers should take full advantage of radio traffic bulletins, counting on crowded highways and considering alternate routes when necessary."

THEATRE FILM OFFERED

By Channel 52, Trenton. A 15mm color and sound film, "Anatomy of a Community Theatre," is available at no cost to any interested organization.

Produced by WNJT-TV in Trenton, the 30-minute film features productions by the Pennington Players and the intricacies of amateur theatricals including casting, rehearsals, set construction and costuming.

A projector and sound equipment will also be provided at no cost, if necessary. Inquiries should be made to Douglas Warren, Channel 52, WNJT-TV, 1573 Parkside Avenue, Trenton.

ARTS PROGRAM PLANNED

For Fall and Winter Workshops. Fall and winter workshops at Studio-on-the-Canal will include drawing and painting in all media. Beginning September 27 the 12-week program will also include ceramics and pottery for day and evening sessions.

MEETING DATE CHANGED

For Conservation Commission. The West Windsor Township Conservation Commission will hold its September meeting at 8 p.m., Wednesday, September 8 at the Dutch Neck Town Hall Annex.

JINGLESTONE

Has a merry ring to it and so does this entire property. Not a formal place but it has been authentically restored to the warmth of its colonial era. (1725)

Several items shine above all this excellence. The old brick of the kitchen floor and the handcrafted walnut cabinets. The pointed stone along the stair is a perfect background for a small collection of etchings. And above all, several fireplaces, each one the "piece de resistance" of an ordinary colonial.

The house is totally adaptable with its 4 bedrooms, 1 1/2 baths, on 5 acres in a quiet, almost isolated corner of Hunterdon County. It is completed with a fantastic old stone barn studio. Price $100,000

Mrs. Switten Goes "Back to School" in India

Editor's Note: Mrs. Virginia Switten, 202 Moore Street, has taught music in Princeton schools for 20 years. Last month, she left Princeton for Mussoorie, India, to be head of the music department for one year at the Woodstock School.

"I promised so many people I'd write to them," she said in a note to TOWN TOPICS from Mussoorie, "that I know the only way I'll ever reach them will be through a newspaper letter!"

I've been in India one week. I had thought it was going to be an adventure, but I didn't know it was going to be THIS MUCH of an adventure! It's a different world! All my senses tell me this! Everything, large and small, important and insignificant is unlike what I have known. . .

I still do not have a "landing certificate" and so have still not been able to get my French horn, which came air freight.

I was met at the airport at 7 a.m. by one of the Woodstock School staff who took me to the International Guest House where I caught up a bit on sleep.

It required considerable experimenting with a large brass key to unlock the door to the room, and more experimenting to get the toilet to flush. The lights flickered and went off several times and there was no ice water. There was a shower with very low water pressure and no curtain. But the room was air-conditioned and had a large ceiling fan besides.

The next morning at breakfast I was astonished to meet the Dumpels, here half-way around the world. They are living in Kampur where Dr. D. is with the Indian Institute of Technology. (Dr. and Mrs. Frits Dumpel formerly lived at 25 Dorann Avenue.)

Mrs. Virginia Switten

Taxi for Seven. We headed for Woodstock School in mussoorie via an old, small Indian-made taxi that had the endurance and strength of a donkey. It carried seven passengers and all our luggage. And it didn't seem to matter that the driver could hardly get it started and the handle was falling off the door.

As we left the city we passed through a section of Delhi where there were magnificent mansions in contemporary architecture-private homes belonging to wealthy Indians. Not far beyond were clusters of mud huts with straw roofs where families lived in one room. So far I haven't found any middle class in India.

From time to time we passed indescribably poor villages with huts made of mud or whatever material was at hand. There were whole settlements of ox-carts with some sort of cover over the top, like primitive trailer camps. There were small herds of goats and pigs and cows driven by people of all ages from old men to little children, hand-made carts filled with egg plants, corn, mangoes and other vegetables and fruits, people carrying bundles of sillage, jars and baskets on their heads, small towns where merchants sold sweets and spicy foods which simmered in rows of brass pots.

We passed dhobis standing in water, pounding clothes clean on rocks. And nobody went home when it poured rain! The roads still teemed with people-carrying umbrellas! It's the monsoon season. Our driver, a handsome Sikh, stopped briefly at a temple where he made an offering of sweets as a religious observance.

Landslides a Problem. We arrived at Dehra Dun as it was getting dark from there the road wound steeply up the mountains to Mussoorie. Landslides are common and had blocked the road the day before but were now cleared away. Finally we could see the lights of Mussoorie twinkling like a string of diamonds on the darkening horizon.

I had dropped a shipping crate (the French horn again) on my toe at Kennedy airport and by the time I reached Mussoorie my whole foot was swollen and painful. We stopped midway up the mountain to call someone to meet us with the school jeep. (Taxis aren't allowed in Mussoorie.) The phone was out of order! Near the top of the mountain we were able to put the call through and after waiting for some time, we were picked up. The hairpin curves in Mussoorie were so sharp in several places that the jeep had to back up twice before it could negotiate them.

At the top of the mountain in a pouring rain, they put me in a "dandy" made of poles and ropes and heavy material and four coolies carried me to the hospital to have the young Christian-Indian doctor look at my foot. Now, with lots of anti-biotics and the toe nail removed, it is much better.

Picturesque View. I live in a tower room in an ancient stone building that was standing when Woodstock School moved here in 1856. Large windows on two sides look out into tree-tops close by, and a distant view of the beautiful Himalayas, hidden now by mist and rain. . .

I have a wood burning stove in my room. Classrooms are unheated. In the bathroom is a large tin tub, and every afternoon the servant brings a big can of steaming water. At unpredictable times each day the cold running water is turned off. I've been told to keep my windows closed or I may find a monkey in the room. I feel like I'm camping out, and really get a kick out of it!

Besides, there are luxuries of another kind. Our meals are served by attentive, silent, quick Indian "servers," and the food which is very different, is good. Indian and Tibetan foods are served about half the time.

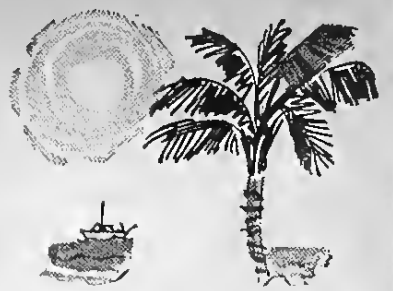

The staff are wonderfully good humored, friendly, interesting people. School rules and regulations are strict by Princeton standards. Example: a silent study hall nightly from 6:45 to 8:30 for grades 5-8.

The children seem quite happy and play together with evident enjoyment. Creative projects are numerous and the classroom atmosphere is excellent. There is obvious interest and participation and enjoyment. Stealing and destruction of property are almost unheard of, and the doors are left unlocked. S'beautiful!

The music department is staffed with capable people and is well supplied with good teaching material. Both Indian and western music is taught.

Sunday, August 15th is Indian-Independence Day. It will be celebrated with a flag raising ceremony, speeches, dancing and feasting, on Indian food, of course. There will be an elaborate luncheon for the servants. Indian dress is a must for everybody, so today I bought a blue wool kurta (to wear with my bell bottoms!)

FOR "SWEET CHARITY": What could be more appropriate for a benefit than "Sweet Charity"? The musical will play the Open Air Theatre, Washington Crossing, this weekend as a benefit for the flag museum, nature center and indeed the theatre itself, at Washington Crossing. Here, in rehearsal are Diane Grinnin, Ellen Stone and Diane Mattheyny. (Marie Bellis Photo)

News Of The THEATRES

SHOW MUST GO ON . . .
Last Minute "Sweet Charity." Unexpectedly, the last scheduled show of the season for the Open Air Theatre, Washington Crossing, had to bow out, and at the last minute, producer Jack Rees decided to stage a benefit of "Sweet Charity."

The musical will open this Thursday at 8:30 p.m. and will play at the same hour this Friday, Saturday, Sunday and Labor Day. Beneficiaries will be the Flag Museum, Nature Center and Open Air Theatre of Washington Crossing.

The last-minute nature of the "Sweet Charity" decision drew its director, Ina Wilner, back from California. Ellen Stone, a senior at the University of Cincinnati, obtained permission from the school to return late so that she could play Charity. Mark Syers delayed his return to Emerson College so that he can play Oscar. Alice Mattheyny, who had her own dance studio for 14 years but is now an employee of RCA, agreed to do the choreography. Others in the cast are Ed Haskins, Charles Smith, George Kolitsas, Diane Mattheyny, Diane Grinnin and Jane Ridolfi.

BOX OFFICE OPENS

For McCarter Season. James Whitmore's one-man portrait of the American humorist Will Rogers will open McCarter's new Playgoers Series on October 8. Mr. Whitmore will offer his show again on October 9.

The box-office will open for business next Tuesday at 10 a.m. "Business" in this case means the sale of subscriptions to the Playgoers Series. It's been designed to take the place of the former resident repertory company for the 1971-72 season.

Besides the Whitmore one-man show, there will be the national companies of "The Me Nobody Knows" and "Butterflies are Free," Princeton's favorite mime, Marcel Marceau and Bob'n-Ray's comedy hit, "The Two and Only." That last one comes in October, too. Tickets are also available—by subscription only—for McCarter's new Family Series. Six events representing three major areas of the performing arts, all quite suitable for the whole family.

In the Series will be the Vienna Choir Boys in their first Princeton appearance; Prof. Peter Schickele and the "Intimate P.D.Q. Bach;" Washington's National Ballet in a full-length presentation of "Cinderella" and two of the Playgoers' offerings: "Butterflies are Free" and "The Two and Only."

Also, subscribers may choose either of two special concerts by Victor Borge, the pianist-humorist, or Charles Aznavour the French singer.

News Of The Theatres

So did I. The only difference is that I still am....!

Herbert McAneny ("I'm even on the Board of Trustees!") has sent a letter around to former members of the Players, asking them to come back. The implication is that if you once played Romeo, why not sign up again and play
Lear?

Mr. McAneny and present members, would also love to have anybody interested in the Players come to a picnic-party Sunday, September 12 at 3 p.m. at 148 Library Place.

The Players want more members. They'd like new, non-former ones, too, who CAN play Romeo or, even more important, who can play hammer and paint brush.

"The chief obstacle to carrying on full programs through the years," Mr. McAneny continues in his letter, "has often been that the membership isn't large enough. The same people are called on too often to do the acting, the scenery, the everything. Our active members are good but they are not indestructible..."

Mr. McAneny, for the benefit of non-Players, has been active in the group since 1933. He retired in June from the faculty of Princeton Day School, where he taught English.

People who want to find out more about the Players before the September 12 picnic-party are invited to call Lalor
Cadley, 452-4934, and ask questions. She is vice-president for membership.

IT'S NEW
To Us

IT'S ALL SO BASIC

At Landau's. Every subtle color that matches the smallest bar in a plaid skirt or the fleck in a tweed is available at Landau's, 114 Nassau Street, in basic tops. The range is from junior to ladies' sizes.

Skyr's Cotton turtle necks come in 17 colors, a rainbow to choose from. Some are plain knits, others are ribbed. All are machine-washable. ($6)

The same with the S kyr nylon tops - many are in solid colors and there are 25 different stripe patterns, so a color match should prove easy. ($9.)

Robert Landau showed us the Herman Geist nylon tops with a U-neck - like the leotards, and packer shirts in navy with either turtle or 3-button crew necks; even tops with a hood, such as the navy with the irregularly spaced strip of dark red.

There are triple turtle neck tops in heavy ribbed wool and the classic crew neck wool sweaters that girls and women keep on buying. Landau's has 18 colors, believe it or not, made by Deans of Scotland. Also the lovely "baby" cables in cardigans with crochelled buttons. Made in pure wool by Tally Ho and Deans, the customers are buying four or five at a time, Mr. Landau says. Some of us just stick with the basics.

Landau's also stocks the classic blouses with Peter Pan collars as a convenience to its customers who can't get along without them. These are hard to find.

Basic Skirts. In the skirt department at Landau's, again it's color and more color in basic designs. You can match color, if you like, with the various tops. The young things are buying sassy little skirts of wide wale corduroy or velour.

We saw skirts in solid colors and in beautifully blended cheeks. Sizes range from juniors to women's, and lengths from mini to about knee length.

Landau's sportswear includes separates in the same fabric - skirt, slacks, vest, jacket and coordinated sweaters - to mix any way a customer likes. There are jacquard-type weaves, solid colors in jersey knits, and stripes, offering lots of versatility.

Blazers are hot this fall and Landau's stocks include wools, polyesters, flannels, and Orlon. We liked the camel color and also a very cheery plaid in gray rust red. ($20-$25)

Jeans a few are still blue, but not many are geared to the taste and life style of the average woman. The corduroys range from a creamy white to forest green and navy. There are tweeds in vertical weaves, Aztec colors in stripes, solid shades in flannels and velours.

Jumpers. Too. Moving deeper into Landau's spacious shop, we found very attractive jumpers to team with a basic top. An autumn color plaid in a rough weave or a camel-color corduroy that buttons down the front, or a navy-and-white geometric knit with a navy belt and lining. All very basic.

The dresses are almost all of machine-washable fabrics, especially Banlon. Wring it out and hang it. The styles are basic, again, in very pretty fabric patterns.

The perfect coats for colder weather, particularly if you lead an active life, are the Austrian Lodenfrey classic imports with styled hood, latch fronts, plaid linings, and trim in contrasting color. Landau's has the coat in fingertip and midi lengths. ($50-$60)

"We buy what we think the majority of the people like," Robert Landau says. It's all very basic, with a marvelous selection of color.

VARIETY IS KING

At Bill's Men's Shop. Ask William Toto what does he have for fall at Bill's Men's Shop, and he says in consternation, "I don't know where to begin!"

For the record, there are 4,000 pairs of slacks at the 41 Witherspoon Street shop. Straight legs, flares, bells, knits, double knits, corduroys, plaid wools, stripes, solids. The prices range from $9 to $20, with the continental-style imports pegged at $30.

The Alan King-Nancy Wilson show is scheduled for a 9 p.m. start this Friday and Saturday and 8:30 p.m. on Sunday. The Arts Center will be closed on Labor Day.

TWO STARS TO APPEAR

At the Garden State Arts Center. Beginning Tuesday, September 7 for one week, the Garden State Arts Center will host singing stars the 5th Dimension and Thelma Houston. 5th Dimension members: Marilyn McCoo, Billy Davis Jr., Florence La Rue, Ron Townson and Lamonte McLemore are planning to bring the full range of their talents and repertoire as well as their exclusive costuming and staging to the show.

Thelma Houston, known for her first album, "Sunflower," will perform as an added attraction for the 5th Dimension engagement. The Tuesday through Thursday and Sunday evening performances will begin at 8:30 p.m. Curtain time for Friday and Saturday is 4 p.m.

GARDEN

Doc (now playing) An "R" rated western about the legendary figure of the Old West. Stacy Keach and Faye Dunaway have the leads. (Not reviewed at press time.)

PLAYHOUSE

$1 Million Duck (now playing) Dean Jones and Sandy Duncan in a kids-and-animals story that is as much fun as any of its predecessors from the Walt Disney studios.

The screen play is by Ted Key, author of the "Hazel" cartoons, based upon "Mr. Drake's Duck," a 1951 film in which Douglas Fairbanks Jr. made his movie swansong.

PRINCE

The Love Machine (now playing), based on the novel by Jacqueline Susann, is the story of a TV newscaster named Robin Stone who works his way up and nearly takes over the company. The guys and dolls of the entertainment jungle are all there: Maggie the girl who loves him, the beautiful model Amanda, his boss — and his boss's wife, and his best friend and various ladies of the evening.

John Phillip Law has the lead role. Robert Ryan, Jackie Cooper, Ryan Cannon, David Hemmings and Jodi Wexler support. The cast is accomplished, the plot wild, but the spark of the novel is lacking.

There are flairs in wool, with polyester added — a deep gray for instance, crossbarred with misty black and a faint rust line. And the East Hampton flares of wool-and-polyester in heavy jersey knits with curved slip pockets over the hips.

Bill's Men's Shop will add belt hools and subtract flare, if a customer wishes. It's no problem, Mr. Toto says.

We saw fabric from Israel in gray with flecks of color;houndstooth checks, traditional Glen plaids, fancy and plain knits, and twills and small, colorful checks, even denims with a vertical diamond stripe. "This shop should be the last stop in shopping for trousers," Mr. Toto commented. "I don't think there's an equal selection in town."

Feeling a little overwhelmed, we asked about tops and were swamped again: Bill's Men's Shop has the knits in turtle-neck and triple turtleneck styles — including skinny ribs and plain knits by Munsingwear, some keynoted by the penguin emblem, all in so many solid colors.

For sportsmen, golf shirts with long sleeves and a choice of long or short collar; Wallace Beery knits with a binding of contrasting color at the neck and front slit.

Bill's Sweaters. And sweaters come in three basic styles, with variations of pure wool and the synthetics. Among the heavier knits, we saw turtle-necks in solid shades and in two-tones that are not too loud. There's an intricate stitch to the camel color sweater with brown sleeves and neck. The yarn is lamb's wool and polyester.

Also, a blue-dominated flecked sweater caught our eye. It was one of Munsingwear's "Grand Slam" collection. The pattern is ribbed knit from waist to about mid-chest. This is the so-called Wallace Beery turtleneck. Wash it or dry clean it.

Bill's Men's Shop has beautiful lengths of unstitched leather in its belts, as well as color contrast stitching on some. They range from about 2" wide to the slim "Stretch-aways" in pebbled leathers. Some have the harness hardware for accent.

Ties, on three well-stocked racks, are $3-up in price. About anything a man is looking for is there. The jewelry emphasizes the bold, Rococo look on many pieces. Others are very simple.

Outerwear at the shop includes husky "blizzard shirts" by Peters; dark rich plaids with patch pockets, button cuffs and pile linings. As for jackets and double knit suits - you'll have to go see for yourself. The variety is there and the prices start at $55 for a sports jacket.

Such stars have never been observed, though physicists have predicted their existence.

Previously trustee for the AHA, Mr. Kauffman will assume his one-year term of office next January.

After serving as assistant administrator at Pennsylvania's Reading Hospital in his hometown, Mr. Kauffman joined Princeton Hospital in 1946. Already a fellow of both the American College of Hospital Administrators and the Royal Society of Health, Mr. Kauffman was seated in the house of delegates of the AHA through 1957.

In 1955-56, Mr. Kauffman served as president of the N.J. Hospital Association and the Middle Atlantic Hospital Assembly the next year. He has also served with the Hospital Planning Association of Mercer County, the Department of Institutions and Agencies, State of New Jersey Hospital Advisory Council, Bureau of Hospital Surveys and Plans, Nursing Manpower Committee and consultant to the Department's Board of Control.

Mr. Kauffman is currently a preceptor for the George Washington University Graduate Program in Health Care Administration. This spring, he received a personal citation from President Nixon in honor of his "25 years of dedicated service to the community."

Dr. Richard A. Grot, Hibben Apartments, Assistant Professor of Aerospace and Mechanical Sciences in Princeton University's School of Engineering and Applied Science, has been awarded a NASA Summer Faculty Fellowship for study at the Marshall Space Flight Center, Alabama.

One of 56 educators from 44 colleges and universities across the country to be so honored, Dr. Grot is spending the summer collaborating with NASA scientists in various research and design activities.

Thomas M. Petrone, 19 Greenview Avenue, life insurance executive for Mutual of New York in Somerset, has won that company's "Quota Buster" award for reaching the 1971 sales quota in six months. His agency is the first to qualify for the award.

PUBLIC MEETING SET
 On West Windsor Referendum. Preceding plans for the special election to be held on September 22, the West Windsor-Plainsboro Regional Board of Education has scheduled a public meeting on the referendum at 8 p.m., Tuesday, September 14, at the Maurice Hawk School.

Also discussed during the board's latest meeting was a letter from Walter Dimitruk outlining his proposal for using the Coward House as a local museum. Robert Duncan, board president explained that the sight requirements for a traffic light at the corner of the property should be carefully considered.

He also discussed the condition of the house and the liability of the board as items presented in Mr. Dimitruk's proposal. It was resolved to carry through with June's decision to permit the Princeton Junction, Plainsboro, and Dutch Neck Fire Companies to use the structure for their training program.

The board also readopted its free and reduced price lunch policy for students and approved participation in the National School Lunch and Special Milk Programs. It was reported that last year approximately 7,100 free lunches were served to children in the district.

Director of Instruction, Dr. Robert Hiltnerbrand, presented first of a series of summaries of the activities of the science and language arts committees which had been working during the summer.

He also discussed plans of introducing additional course offerings for the seventh and eighth grade students at the Dutch Neck School. A course in the study of communications is now in the process of being developed for students later in the term.

New quarters for the central administrative offices are now on Washington Road. The move was planned to provide ample time for the preparation of the additional classrooms needed at the Maurice Hawk School before school opens this fall.

NEW CANCER TREATMENT
 Projected by Scientists Here. Scientists at Princeton University's particle accelerator may have achieved a significant breakthrough in what could prove an effective treatment of cancer.

Director of the accelerator project, Professor Milton G. White has announced the successful acceleration of nitrogen nuclei to 3.9-billion electron volts, an energy previously available only in natural cosmic rays. The principal use for high energy nitrogen ions will be in cancer therapy studies.

Early Work. Past research by Dr. Cornelius Tobias at Berkeley, and Dr. Paul Todd of Pennsylvania State University, indicated that high energy nitrogen ions capable of penetrating deeply would be greatly superior to X rays in treating cancer. Calculations by Dr. Todd indicate that nitrogen ions, when properly applied, may have a 30-fold advantage over X rays in killing a tumor.

Already a research committee including Dr. Todd and other specialists is being formed to study further the possibilities of using the accelerated nitrogen nuclei for cancer treatment. Most of the biomedical experiments will be carried out by scientists from other laboratories who will bring their equipment and living material to the Princeton accelerator where the bombardment experiments will be carried out.

To establish a sound basis for treating human patients several years of careful studies with cell cultures and small animals will be necessary. All experiments thus far proposed are of this basic type. Most of the biomedical experiments will be carried out by scientists from other laboratories who will bring their specialized equipment and living material to the PPA where the bombardments will be carried out.

Upon return to their own laboratories they will then determine the effects of the nitrogen radiation on their biological samples. Already 27 research proposals have been submitted by scientists from such places as Berkeley, Brookhaven National Laboratory, Pennsylvania State University, Rutgers University, Princeton University, Columbia, and even as far away as Orsay, France.

Accelerator, was initiated in 1957 and completed in 1963 at a capital cost to the Atomic Energy Commission of nearly $30-million. In its original form the PPA accelerated protons, or stripped hydrogen atoms, to 3.0 BeV as projectiles with which to bombard nuclei to produce new forms of elementary particles. The AEC, as an economy measure, ceased to fund the Laboratory as of June 30 of this year.

Successful conversion of the Princeton machine makes it the first accelerator to produce the laboratory equivalent of heavy cosmic rays which are electrically charged, very high energy particles ranging in type from electrons, protons, i.e. hydrogen nuclei, to nuclei as heavy as uranium. Nitrogen the particle accelerated in the PPA, is fourteen times heavier than protons. Cosmic rays, originating in outer space, continually bombard the Earth's atmosphere and are partially absorbed before reaching ground level.

The study of cosmic rays has led to the discovery of several new particles thought to be the fundamental building blocks of atoms. Scientists believe that the study of man-made, high energy, nitrogen atoms may reveal new facts about the primordial nuclear matter out of which everything is composed.

A grant of $230,000 from the Fannie E. Rippel Foundation of Newark, N.J., to Princeton University made possible the conversion of the Accelerator to nitrogen ions and will permit operation for biomedical studies until about mid-September.

New Jersey Bell points out a wonderful gadget for reducing phone bills.

Your index finger.

Use it to dial all out-of-state station calls. And no matter what other state you call (except faraway Alaska and Hawaii), it will always cost less than if you had placed the call through an operator. Especially on weeknights and weekends when the savings are especially big.

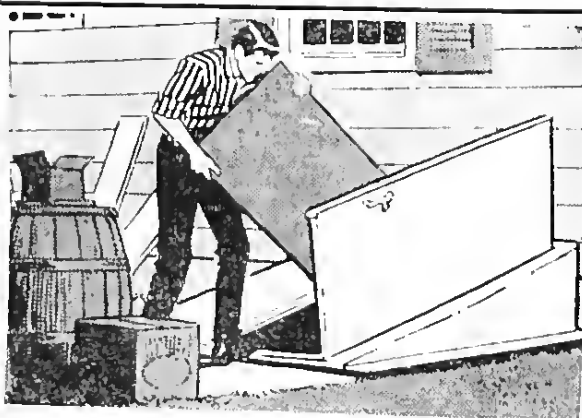

For example. During weekend bargain-calling times*, a 3-minute coast-to-coast station call costs $1.40 plus tax—if you use the services of an operator.

But the same call is reduced even more—way down to 70¢ plus tax—if you dial it yourself without the services of an operator.

So, remember to dial your own station calls without an operator. And fight inflation with just one finger.

*From 8 a.m. till 11 p.m. Saturday, and from 8 a.m. till 5 p.m. Sunday.

tember. "Additional operating funds are being energetically sought from other private foundations, but especially from the National Cancer Institute, in order to embark on several years study of cancer therapy," Professor White reported.

Professor White, a member of Princeton's Department of Physics since 1935, went on to say: "In addition, aerospace scientists are interested in using the PPA to study the long term effects of heavy-ion bombardment on healthy tissue — and on electronic space research equipment as well — since the deep-space traveler, or the unmanned deep-space probe, will be subjected to long periods of bombardment by heavy cosmic rays similar in kind to the nitrogen ions now produced in the PPA.

"In order financially to bridge the gap between the end of the Rippel Foundation gift and the hoped-for long term funding, arrangements are being made to sell time on the accelerator to NASA, AEC and other government agencies. By this means it may be possible to avert a shutdown, and consequent loss of the highly trained staff, before long term support becomes a reality.

"Long-term hopes are based on the premise that President Nixon's Conquest of Cancer Program is intended for just this sort of new, imaginative approach to the treatment of cancer. In addition, the government's existing $40,000,000 investment in the PPA would be put to a humanitarian use rather than be allowed to fall into decay."

ENGSTROM HONORED

By Fellowship at Minnesota. An RCA Fellowship in Science and Engineering honoring Dr. Elmer W. Engstrom, former President of RCA, has been established at the University of Minnesota. It was announced jointly this week by Dr. Malcolm Moos, Minnesota President, and H. W. Leverenz of Princeton, Staff Vice-President and Chairman of the RCA Educational Aid Committee.

Dr. Engstrom graduated from the University of Minnesota in 1923 and currently is a trustee of the university. He was a Princeton resident for many years before moving to Rossmore, a nearby retirement community.

He served as President and then Chief Executive Officer of RCA before retiring as an employee in 1969 after more than 45 years of service. He continued on the board of directors and as chairman of the executive committee until he chose earlier this year not to stand for re-election.

Prior to his being named RCA President in 1961, Dr. Engstrom spent many years directing the research and engineering activities of the Radio Corporation of America (now the RCA Corporation). Beginning in the early 1930's, he assumed immediate supervision of RCA's television research program, leading to the development of a practical commercial black-and-white television system by 1939. In the postwar years, as head of RCA Laboratories, Dr. Engstrom directed a similar program that led to the achievement by RCA of the compatible all-electronic color television system.

RCA will sponsor the Fellowship, including payment of full tuition, a stipend to the Fellow, and a grant to the department in which the Fellow is majoring. The Fellowship is expected to start with the coming 1971-72 academic year and to continue for 10 years.

SQUARES SHOW SET

For Dancing Demonstration. The public is invited to watch the second annual Princeton Squares dancing demonstration between 3-5 p.m., Saturday, September 11, at the Princeton Shopping Center Mall.

The Princeton dancing group is anxious to have new square dance enthusiasts join, and at 8:30 p.m., September 24, at the Riverside School, it will hold an "open house dance" where anyone of any age is invited.

Serious participants may take square dance lessons at the school in late September. Upon graduating from this class they will receive a square dance badge and become a Princeton Square. They will then have dance privileges at the other 40 clubs in the area.

Further information about classes and club activities may be obtained from club president John D'Amico at 921-3424 or from publicity chairman Bob Buckler at (201) 359-4362.

BREAKFAST PLANNED

By Rocky Hill Fireman. The Rocky Hill Hook and Ladder Company No. 1 will hold a Pancake Breakfast from 8 a.m.-1 p.m., on Sunday, September 12 at the Rocky Hill Fire House in Rocky Hill.

Tickets at $1.25 will cover the menu of juice, pancakes, sausage, milk and coffee.

FALL REGISTRATION SET

For YMCA Toddler School. Registration for the Princeton YMCA Toddler School is open from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m., beginning Monday, September 13 until the classes are filled.

The fall program will start Monday, September 27 with double morning classes and an afternoon session for girls and boys three through five years of age. The morning sessions will be run by Mrs. Sue Duckworth and Mrs. Jean Thomas. There will be separate units for children attending kindergarten the following fall.

Mrs. Millicent Malli will teach the afternoon class. The program will be planned to provide a broad pre-school experience including various media of art, music, dramatics, and play. Social interaction and etiquette will be stressed.

PROGRAM CHANGE READY

At Lawrenceville School. When the second largest student body at Lawrenceville School begins classes Monday, September 13, they will be working in a completely new curriculum based on three 10-week terms and courses expressed in units.

The new program, designed to give greater flexibility, a wider variety of courses, greater elective choice, and an integration of independent study and off-campus programs, was planned as the result of studies made over the past several years by the School's Instruction and Discipline Committee and the Curriculum Committee.

Dean of faculty Benjamin F. Briggs and Dr. Wade C. Stephens, the School's classics department chairmen and chairman of the Curriculum, are the principal architects of the new plan. With an eye on recent trends in education, Mr. Briggs cited the adaptability of the new academic program to include co-education, a four-quarter system, or a shift to age group 16-20 instead of the current 14-18.

Resurgent Eagles Roll Over Hapless Giants in Classic Mismatch

It took many New York Giant fans 2½ hours to travel the 20 miles between the New Jersey Turnpike exit at New Brunswick and Palmer Stadium, because of the flooded road conditions. What they saw when they got there wasn't worth walking across the street to watch.

A Giant team, suffering from a combination of ineptness and injuries, with emphasis on the former, was soundly whipped by the Philadelphia Eagles, led by a second string quarterback of limited ability.

The 26-12 score does not really indicate the ease with which the Eagles handled the New Yorkers on the sunny afternoon, before 44,569 spectators, some of whom were still coming in as the first half ended.

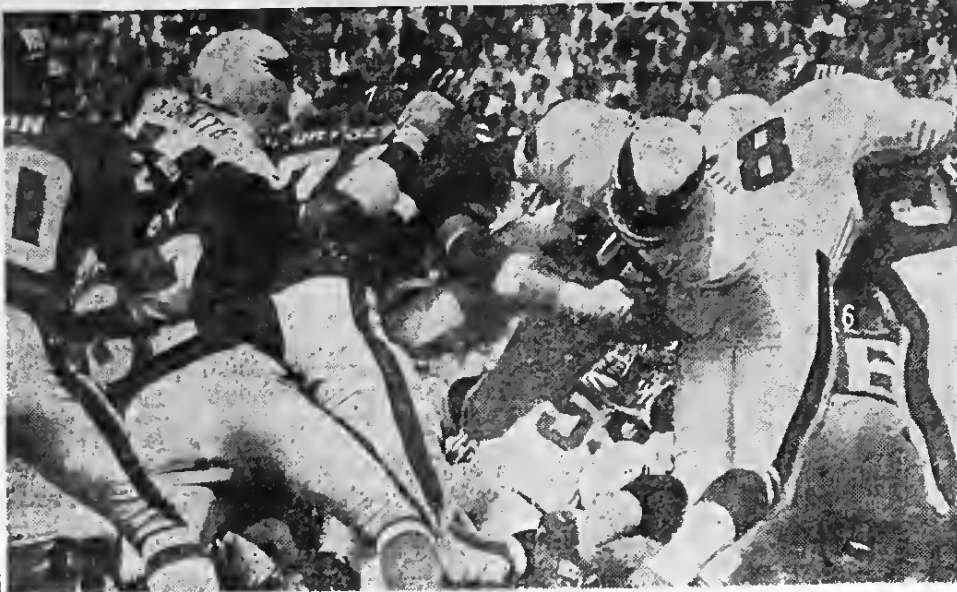

Road conditions severely hampered the flow of traffic into parking lots near the stadium, and the game was delayed 17 minutes at the start to allow some of the latecomers to get there by the kickoff. However, there were only some 30,000 on hand at the start.

Long Road for Giants. The loss, the fourth in as many games for the Giants, showed they still have almost as far to go as when training camp opened. The first regular season game, however, is just a week and a half away.

The return of several players currently out with injuries, Ron Johnson being the most notable, will undoubtedly give the New Yorkers a lift, but there are several other problems to be solved.

Rick Arrington, hardly a premier passer, had little trouble getting completions when he needed them, hitting on 11 of 19 attempts. Lee Bougess and Ronnie Bull gained 145 yards between them, picking up consistent yardage through and around the Giant defensive line.

One might have thought the Eagles would be a little flat without the services of their first-string quarterback Pete

FIRST OF TWO FOR BOUGGESS: Lee Bougess, who gave the Giants fits all afternoon, goes over from the two-yard line in the first quarter for the Eagles' first touchdown. He later scored on a 52-yard run, ending up with 90 yards rushing for the day.

Liske, who will return in time for regular season play, but this was not the case.

Birds Play Well. After several dismal seasons, the Birds are looking to bounce back this year, and both veterans and rookies played with a desire not shown on the other side of the line. Two of the substituted rookies into the game, to get another look at them.

Apparently he came up with some answers, because this week, he announced that in the game against the Cleveland Browns Saturday he would go with first-string personnel.

Giants' Passing Erratic. The Giants' passing game did work, on at least two occasions, when they drove down for touchdowns, but that was all. Tarkenton was often under heavy pressure from Eagle linemen and was dropped for losses on several occasions.

Penalties hurt also, twice nullifying good gains by the Giants.

As has been typical of the Giants so far, they put themselves in a hole almost at the start. A weak punt by Tom Blanchard, which was partially blocked, set the Eagles up on New York's 41.

A pass from Arrington to rookie wide receiver Harold Carmichael carried down inside the Giant's 10-yard line, and Bougess took it over from the one two plays later.

The Giants stalled again, and the Eagles put three more points up on the scoreboard on a 38-yard field goal by rookie Happy Feller from Texas. The first period ended with the Eagles ahead, 10-0, and the Giants having run only six plays from scrimmage.

Rocky Tompson, the rookie speedster, set the Giants up on a fine runback of the ensuing kickoff, and the offense began to show some spark for the first time. However this drive was halted abruptly when Bill Bradley intercepted a Tarkenton aerial meant for Clifton McNeil on the Eagle's 19.

Giant's Score. New York finally got on the scoreboard near the end of the first half, when Tarkenton hit Bob Tucker and Joe Morrison on successive passes that carried to the Eagles' 26. A pass interference call against rookie defensive back Barry West against McNeil put the ball on the one, and Shy took it over two plays later.

That made it 10-7 and the second half looked like it might be interesting. It wasn't. Soon after it got under way, Bougess got loose on a 52-yard ramble off tackle and went all the way.

Later in the quarter the Eagles scored again, after a Scott Eaton interception was nullified, because the Giants were holding on the play. Arrington hit Dick Trapp on a 10-yard pass for this score, making it 23-7.

This seemed to shake the Giants out of their lethargy, and they responded with a scoring drive of their own, capped by a 33-yard pass from Tarkenton to rookie Coleman Zeno.

With more than 10 minutes left in the game at this point, the Giants were very much alive at 23-14. They chose to roll over and play dead, instead. The Eagles did the rest of the scoring, a 37-yard field

Princeton Firm Designs Sports Complex Which Will be Future Home for New York Giants

Will New York City one day be without both the New York Yankees in the American League and the New York Giants in the National Football League? If so the Princeton architectural firm of Ewing Cole Erdman and Eubank will play a major role in such a flight to the suburbs.

The New York Giants last week announced their plans to take up residence in the new multi-million dollar sports complex, beginning in 1974. At the moment Michael Burke, general manager of the Yankees, does not plan to move, but he is keeping all his options open.

New York Mayor John Lindsay has said the city will still go ahead with plans to refurbish Yankee stadium at a cost of 24 million, but the plan is drawing increasing opposition now that the Giants have decided to move. If the Yankees do leave New York, it will not be in the immediate future, because they have a lease that does not expire until 1978.

goal by Mark Mosely with 2:34 to play.

Governor William Cahill was on hand for halftime presentations connected with the 10th Jaycee Classic, and to view the team he wooed from New York City to the New Jersey meadowlands. A few more performances like that by the Giants, and Cahill may send them back to New York and look for another team.

ETS IN FINALS AGAIN

Beats McGraw-Hill Twice. Educational Testing Service, like the old New York Yankee teams, wins when the victories count most.

Finishing in second place behind McGraw-Hill in the regular season, ETS took two out of three from the league leaders to knock them out of the post-season playoffs. Last year ETS also finished behind McGraw-Hill in regular season play, but won in the playoffs. McGraw-Hill won the first game, 14-10, but ETS bounced back to take the next two, 16-4, and 11-10.

The defending champions will play the winner of the RCA A and RCA Astro series to decide the championship of the Business Softball League.

In first-round playoff action, ETS whipped FMC, 13-3 and 13-9, while McGraw-Hill disposed of IDA, 16-5, and 6-5. In its first round, RCA A defeated Cities Service by scores of 13-8 and 10-6.

Astro needed three games to knock off Hopewell TV. It won the first, 17-11, lost the second, 17-16, and won the rubber game, 15-8. In the first game between the two, RCA A beat Astro, 13-6.

Inexperienced Little Tigers Hope To Equal Last Year's Record

(This is the first of three articles on Princeton High School's football prospects for 1971.)

Had the Princeton High School football team defeated its last opponent, Cherry Hill East last November, it would have finished with just one loss — the fewest ever recorded by a Dick Wood coached team.

Instead, the Little Tigers dropped a 6-0 decision to end the season with a 5-2-2 record. The ending notwithstanding it was a fine season for PHS, which reversed a poor 3-5 record the year before.

Now the question is can Princeton High, which has dropped to a Group 3 school because of a shrinking male population, do it again against a schedule that will be every bit as tough as last year's if not more so.

"I'm optimistic," said Wood, who is starting his 10th year as head coach. "We've got some problems but we have enough good kids out and if we can get them in the right places there's no reason why we shouldn't have as good a season as last year." Still Wood and his assistant Jim Beachell, who is responsible for the entire defense, realize they have their work cut out for them.

Thin On Experience. One liability is a thinner squad as far as experience is concerned. Through graduation Wood lost 21 seniors, including the two who made the Little Tigers attack go last year — Lou John Rossi and Lawrence Parker.

Between them, Rossi and Parker accounted for 22 of the 26 touchdowns the Blue and White scored last year. Rossi, the all area tailback, ran for six and threw for eight more TDs.

Parker, the 186 pound fullback who was deceptively fast — he was a dash man on the track team — scored eight times. There is no one with any varsity experience to take their place.

Last year, Wood welcomed back 13 returning lettermen, six of them backs. This year from a junior squad that was unusually small, Wood has only seven returning, three of them backs. Included is kicking specialist Ned Fry.

The lack of tested players hurts because Wood and Beachell both would like to go, wherever possible, with two complete offensive and defensive squads rather than have players go both ways. So between the first day of practice on September 1 and the opener September 25 with Hamilton, both are going to have to take a long look at just about everybody. In particular, Beachell reported that he intends to look at sophomores more than he has in the past.

A plus is the four scrimmages that have been scheduled — one more than last year. Between September 8 and 18, PHS will scrimmage Freehold Regional, Hunterdon Central, Howell Township (another Freehold school) and the Hur School. The latter two are here.

Backfield Reviewed. In this article, TOWN TOPICS will review the backfield candidates. In succeeding issues it will examine the line and defense and outlook.

The entire starting backfield has graduated. Both Parker and Rossi were three-year veterans and were familiar with the PHS attack which is divided 50-50 between the single wing and the Wishbone T. About four years ago, Wood started to go to the T so he could open up the attack a little and take advantage of the play-option pass which the T affords and the single wing does not.

Because the backs play different positions in the two formations, it puts a premium on experience. Unlike last year, this year's squad is loaded with juniors but it means that the experience is also a year away.

Following are the candidates for the four backfield spots. Wingback: Number one on the chart is Don Owens, the only senior vying for the position. A sprinter on the track team, Owens is probably the fastest but like all three candidates he is not very big physically.

Two juniors hoping to break in are Tom Hofgesang and Dane Black. Hofgesang, who has been running all summer will be in condition. He played mostly defense as a sophomore.

three of them we should come up with something, he added.

Quarterback: The starter here is Steve Sanford, who along with tackle Tony Federico are co-captains of the team. Sanford will call the plays. "He's a good blocker, a good receiver, a good hard-nose football player who's aggressive and will get the job done," observed Beachell. Both coaches said Sanford had the necessary football savvy.

Trouble is, he won't start the first day of practice. His arm is still in a cast from a small crack in an arm bone which he fractured playing hockey. It is due to come off September 10. How soon Sanford can go full speed is a question mark.

Taking over will be Sam Scott, a junior. What is true of Sanford is true of Scott: same size, hits well, good hands, is competitive and has a good football mind. "We'll try him in there right away," said Wood.

Fullback: Probable starter is Hyette Briscoe, one of the three returning backfield lettermen. Sanford and tailback Joe McGuinn are the other two.

weight up from last year's 174 to a reported 202. As a runner he gets off fast but does not possess the sustained speed that Parker had. Said Wood, "I think he'll do a good job for us there."

Again, there are two juniors waiting to move up. Bob Weisbecker performed well as a fullback on the sophomore squad last fall, while Bob Alexander has no offensive experience but weighs in at more than 200. Despite the beef, Alexander is said to be faster than Briscoe.

Tailback: Still the key position in the single wing. Joe McGuinn, 5-11, 170, is the pre-season pick to start. Perhaps not as adept a passer as Rossi, he is a faster runner and follows his blockers well. With a few games under his belt, McGuinn, who has been working hard all summer and has the determination, may indeed make the fans forget Rossi.

Another candidate is junior Greg Kline. Not big, Kline is a streak of lightning. "He is not overpowering in a flat 50 but he can cut on a dime and is quick moving," said Wood. He compared him to Steinert's Joe Rakoski of two seasons back which is high praise indeed.

Another possibility is Bob Zinsmeister, the only sophomore mentioned by Wood. Solid, built like an oak, Zinsmeister gave signs of what was to come when he broke into the starting baseball lineup as a freshman catcher. Although bigger than Kline, he has Kline's speed.

Summing up, Wood said that he thought the team will be all right at fullback and tailback, weaker at wingback and quarterback. "But I say that only because of Sanford's arm," he added.

Overall, the backfield will be lighter. Rossi weighed 195 and Parker 186. And of course, it will be less experienced. Nonetheless, Wood and Beachell are satisfied they have the material in the backfield that can do the job.

THE NET RESULTS

Of Final Summer Tournaments. Vicki Austin, Jay Lapidus and Terry Blake were among trophy winners in the final summer sanctioned USLTA tournaments held last week.

At the New Castle County Open in Wilmington, Vicki Austin won the 16 and under event, defeating Terry Corrado of Altoona, Pa., 6-3, 6-2. In the girls 18 and under matches, unseeded Terry Blake reached the semi-finals, losing to 2nd seed Gale Coll of Durbin, South Africa, 6-2, 6-1. Libby Hicks also reached the semi-finals losing to Wendy Levy of Bryn Mawr, 6-3, 6-0. Vicki and Terry then teamed up and reached the finals of the doubles event, losing to Carol Sawyer of Wilmington and Robin Tenney of Los Angeles, Calif., 6-2, 6-0.

Previously, at the Philmont Country Club in Huntingdon Valley, Pa., in the Eastern Pennsylvania Boys Clay Court Tennis Championship, Jay Lapidus advanced to the finals in both the singles of the 12's and doubles of the 14's. In the 12's, he lost to the No. 1 seeded player; and in the boys 14 doubles with Rieke Goode of Florida as his partner, Jay reached the finals before being defeated 6-4, 6-4.

On Sunday, August 22, Jay and his sister, Mary, a former highly-ranked player in the girls Middle States Tennis grouping, took part in a tennis exhibition in Elizabeth. Jay played a singles match with one of the ranked juniors from the New York City area while Mary played an exciting singles exhibition with Patty Hogan, who is nationally ranked.

Others who participated in final tournament events these past two weeks were: at Philmont: Scott Mead, Randy Thomas, Fred Berklehammer, Dan Aronovic, David and Bob by Baumer, Keith Usiskin, Andre Eichenberger, Buff Burchfield; and Chip Parmele and Vicki Austin represented the New Jersey Team at the Middle States Jamboree in Glassboro.

Chip tied for first place in his division and Vicki won 4 out of 5 in her division.

Maybe someday
all cars will be built like the Citroen.

Maybe someday.

Maybe it depends on you.

When you demand a car, for example, that would ride like a Rolls but costs like a Chevy. One that would take curves like a Maserati but seats a five full passengers. A car that would be in every sense a luxury car—yet burns gas like a tiny Volkswagen (27 MPG).

Maybe you could get that kind of car from Detroit if you demanded it. Or you could buy one right now. It's called a Citroen. Just go to your nearest Citroen dealer and test drive it.

Learn how good other cars may someday be; and how someday is today with a Citroen.
